Dear Sir/Madam,

We gratefully acknowledge your gracious donation of the books: "Sie müssen machen, dass ich wegkomme!".

The Yad Vashem Library is the world's most comprehensive collection of published material about the Holocaust. It contains over 180,000 titles in 69 languages and seeks to collect all material published about the Holocaust, making it available to the reading public and safeguarding it for future generations. Not only does the material lining the shelves of the library contain a wealth of information about the Holocaust, but it also represents mankind's attempt to grapple with one of the most traumatic events in human history.

These books constitute an important and valuable contribution to our collection and will be available to all library visitors.

Sincerely yours,

Reut Hershkovitz
Assistant director, Libraries Department
